AUDIENCE WITH THE QUEEN

Famous Board Game designer Carsten Lauber was granted a private audience with Queen Victoria in recognition of his outstanding service. The Queen thanked him for the invention of the board game Crystal Palace. Sources say he was invited to afternoon tea and conversed with the Queen about the upcoming Corgi petition «One corgi for each good citizen» (see our report in the latest issue). The Queen was not amused, but nonetheless very taken with Mr. Lauber.
